by Michael Greene

Lively

10 Beck is a girl with a pret-ty lit-tle curl. She lives in a house by the sea. Her Grand-pa

19 Mike built her a kite with a ma-gic tail that sang "Wow - ee, wow- ee," a mag-ic tail that sang "Wow ee!" The kite flew high, way up in the sky. It hid in the clouds play-ful - ly, The 29 whis-per-ing breeze and the hum - ming - birds and the ma-gic tail all sang "Wow - ee, wow-

36 ee." The mag-ic tail sang "Wow ee!" It flew, it flew and sang all ov-er the 47 earth, wow ee! It flew it flew, and sang all ov-er the earth, Wow - ee! The 57 kite flew low ov-er hous es in a row. It flew ov-er high-ways and trees. It

65 saw mes-sy homes and lit-tered streets, and the mag ic tail stopped sing-ing "Wow - ee, wow -

72 ee," and it would' nt sing a sing-le "Wow ee!" Said Beck to Grand-pa "Have you seen my kite? It's so sad on that tree. And the whis-per-ing breeze and the hum-ming -

80

88

birds don't hear a sing-le 'Wow - ee, wow - ee,' don't hear a sing-le 'Wow ee!'" It cried, it cried with salt-y tears it could not hide. It cried it cried, with salt-y tears it could not hide. Now list - en Beck, go tell your friends to stop throw-ing mag-ic tail would sing glad - ly, glad - y, so the mag-ic tail would sing glad - ly. Said Grand-pa

Mike as he saw this sight, "See how things can be, how just one kid can change the
